

Dear Friends,

It is our hope that this report finds you and your loved ones safe and healthy during this challenging time for the whole world.

"Do not be dismayed by the brokenness of the world. All things break. All things can be mended. Not with time, as they say, but with intention. So go. Love intentionally, extravagantly, unconditionally. The broken world waits in darkness for the light that is you."

Thank you for being a light to all of us at Health Brigade and to all of those who need our services now more than ever.

As fate would have it, Health Brigade turned 50 in a year that tethers us to a history of another pandemic. Fan Free Clinic, now Health Brigade came of age during the HIV/AIDS pandemic, where the lives of a whole generation of gay men and others vulnerable to the disease were snuffed out by a stigmatized illness that still does not have a cure.

The COVID-19 pandemic will prove to be as devastating worldwide by the time we roll out the vaccines. This pandemic cuts across an even broader swath of people—claiming the lives of older adults, persons with chronic conditions, and vulnerable persons of color. This pandemic has shone a bright light on the disparities faced by so many in our communities.

But there is another story to be told—the story of the everyday heroes from all walks of life that ensure critical services are provided in the most difficult of times. These heroes inspire us to cling to hope and find the courage to persevere into the uncharted territory of life during a pandemic.

It is these heroes that Health Brigade celebrates in its 50th Anniversary Year—from those who dedicated months of resources and time to planning our Brigala (cancelled 24 hours before the event) to the devoted staff and volunteers who worked tirelessly to continue caring for our patients and clients during COVID-19.

We extend our deepest gratitude to you—our heroes that have continued to support us through your inkind services, and financial resources. Without you, we simply could not have continued to provide the critical services our patients and clients need during this unprecedented time.

In the pages that follow, you will see a snapshot not only of the past year, but also a timeline of the past 50 years.

We honor all the heroes throughout the decades that have served and supported the work of Fan Free Clinic and Health Brigade.

We are making an effort to reduce the number of printed pages to save trees and resources by sharing our recognition of donors and volunteers on our website, as well as a more detailed financial report. You can access this information on line at www.healthbrigade.org/2020AnnualReport

We wish you and your loved ones good health and the fortitude to embrace the critical moments of life as we continue to face this pandemic together. We will prevail.

With gratitude and respect,
